Dr. Reedy is an Aleutian sociocultural anthropologist who conducts ethnographic research primarily in the Alaska Peninsula and Aleutian Island chain. Her primary research is investigating the role of traditional commercial and subsistence economies in the construction and maintenance of Aleut/Unangan identity. Research interests include indigenous rights and traditional representations of identity, Aleut/Unangan culture and history, ecological anthropology, ethnohistory, economic development, subsistence and commercial fisheries, local knowledge of food harvesting and ecology in Alaska Native villages, oil and gas development near coastal communities, environmental and fisheries policymaking, and policy analysis.

PROFESSIONAL APPOINTMENTS

- 2016-present Chair, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.
2017-present Professor, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.
2011-2016 Associate Professor, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.
2010-11 Assistant Professor, Department of History, Idaho State University.
2007-2011 Assistant Professor, Department of Anthropology, Idaho State University.

EDUCATION

- 1999-2004 Ph.D., Department of Social Anthropology, University of Cambridge, UK.
Dissertation title: Aleut Identity and Indigenous Commercial Fisheries.
Ph.D. Advisor: Barbara Bodenhorn, Pembroke College
1993-1997 B.A., Department of Anthropology, University of Wisconsin, Madison.
