

Creating Safe Sport and Physical Activity Experiences, Part I

Course Syllabus

Course Description

Part one of a three-part professional development program on creating safe sporting experiences. In part one, participants will first learn research supported strategies to develop a moral community in physical activity/sport settings. Next, participants will gain awareness of bullying and abuse common in sport settings, and learn tools to create a positive and safe sport culture. Finally, participants will comprehend and apply the laws and legal responsibilities required of those working in physical activity/sport settings.

Course Objectives

At the end of this course you should be able to:

1. Describe why sport is valuable beyond objective outcomes.
2. Identify effective strategies for building a moral community.
3. Describe how biases can influence how we treat others, and how perspective taking can promote a safe environment.
4. Describe how bullying can be harmful to student-athletes.
5. Identify signs and symptoms of a mental health emergency and know where to refer an athlete who needs help.
6. Describe the continuum of sexual misconduct and know how to advocate for an athlete who shows signs and symptoms of such.
7. Identify laws directed toward and legal responsibility of those who work in physical activity/sport settings.
8. Apply best practices for avoiding negligence.
