UHP FUN FIND WINNER!

Congratulations to Scotlyn Christy '26

Scotlyn was quick to solve the clues! She grabbed her friend, Hawkins, went up to the pillars, took a selfie, and emailed her submission to win the prize! Scotlyn keeps busy with working on her Secondary Education degree and managing the Bengal Theater. "In my spare time, I like to soak in the sun by going on hikes, walks, and paddle boarding. I enjoy staying home and watching a good movie with my friends and family."

Red Hill Pillars

The pillars are likely one of the most well-known and easily identifiable landmarks on campus. Before making their way to Red Hill, they were originally part of the McHan-Henderson Funeral Home. Jack Henderson donated them to ISU in 1966 after the funeral home relocated. Eventually, in the 1970s, they were placed on Red Hill. While there's some speculation about their significance, there isn't any official ISU symbolism assigned to them. However, many partake in the tradition of hiking up Red Hill and taking photos to celebrate becoming a Bengal.
